Phase Zero Design Partners With Colliers Engineering & Design

Natick, MA (May 29, 2024) – Phase Zero Design Corporation, a commercial architecture, interior design, and branding firm, signed an agreement to merge with Colliers Engineering & Design, a national multi-discipline engineering, architecture, design and consulting firm.

Phase Zero Design’s award-winning professionals bring a client-centric approach to six key sectors: academic, healthcare, hospitality, multi-family, residential, retail, and workplace. “This strategic step supports our focus on continued growth for our clients, partners and employees,” stated Jim Kimball, AIA, Principal, Phase Zero Design.

“Together with Colliers Engineering & Design, we will continue to provide our clients with a unique range of experiences and perspectives that ensure their design visions and goals are achieved,” added Matt Wittmer, AIA, LEED AP, Principal, Phase Zero Design.

“We are excited to have Phase Zero Design join our team,” said Kevin L. Haney, PE, President and CEO, Colliers Engineering & Design. “This partnership enables us to strengthen our architecture service offerings nationwide and provide new services in existing markets. Our combined expertise will provide our clients with more resources and capabilities.”

Morrissey Goodale, a specialized management consulting and research firm exclusively serving the architecture, engineering, and environmental consulting industries, initiated the transaction and advised Phase Zero Design.
