In a move to enhance our capabilities, RICK is proud to announce the acquisition of Armstrong & Brooks (A&B), a prominent civil engineering firm based in the Inland Empire area. This strategic decision marks a significant milestone for RICK as we continue to strengthen our teams to better serve our clients and communities and to meaningfully contribute to the professional development of our employees.

A&B brings with it a wealth of expertise and a proven track record for delivering cost-effective, reliable engineering solutions across the region. Known for exceptional service, company leaders Dennis Armstrong and William “Bill” Brooks have built reputations as trusted, local partners for over two decades. Dennis and Bill are actively involved with each project to ensure continuity in the firm’s commitment to quality deliverables.

“Joining forces with A&B aligns with our strategic goal to strengthen our employee base; with more people to help on projects, we’ll be able to better service our clients.” —Richard O’Neill | RICK Associate Principal.
