Craig Gaulden Davis Architecture (CGD) Joins PBK

Natick, MA (February 11, 2025) – Craig Gaulden Davis Architecture (CGD), a South Carolina and Maryland-based architecture firm with expertise in education, civic, and cultural spaces, merged with design firm PBK. This strategic partnership enhances CGD’s expertise and strengthens its ability to serve clients throughout the region.

The merged firm, Craig Gaulden Davis | PBK, will reach clients and communities across 31 offices nationwide. This expansion into the Carolinas and Maryland will make it one of the most comprehensive architectural firms in the country.

“PBK’s legacy of excellence and client success aligns perfectly with our continued commitment to deliver thoughtful design solutions to our clients and make a positive impact on the communities we serve,” said Scott Powell, President, of Craig Gaulden Davis Architecture. “Together, we are creating an architectural powerhouse that combines a deep legacy of regional insight with broad national expertise. This is a great opportunity to elevate our services and provide outstanding results for our clients.”

“Partnering with CGD marks an exciting milestone for both firms,” said PBK CEO James Uhl. “By combining our expertise and expanding our reach along the East Coast, we’ll continue to have a significant design impact in more communities.”

Morrissey Goodale, a specialized management consulting and research firm exclusively serving the architecture, engineering, and environmental consulting industries, advised CGD in the transaction.
